

Muslim Population in Asia: 1950 – 2020

Houssain Kettani

Abstract—The purpose of this manuscript is to present a reliable estimate of the Muslim population and its percentage in each country in Asia from 1950 till 2020. This data is summarized to be a reference for other studies and discussions related to the Muslim population. The presented data show that the percentage of World Muslim population with respect to the total World population has increased steadily from 17% in 1950 to 26% by 2020. While the total Asian population increased from 1.4 billion in 1950 to 4.7 billion by 2020, the percentage of Muslims in Asia increased from 23% in 1950 to 31% by 2020, which amounts to more than one percentage point per decade.

I. INTRODUCTION AND METHODOLOGY

Islam has started in Asia which explains why more than two-thirds of World Muslim population resides in this continent. The aim of this paper is to track the change of the Muslim population in Asia since 1950. Accordingly, the results of this paper reveal that while the total Asian population increased from 744 million in 1870, to 1.4 billion in 1950, to 4.7 billion by 2020. The percentage of Muslims in Asia increased from 18% in 1870, to 23% in 1950, to 31% by 2020, which amounts to more than one percentage point per decade.

Our results are summarized in tables and a superscript number is put by a country name representing the source of the percentages. A “(year)” sign is put next to this number to indicate that the source bases its estimate on official census data and the year the census was conducted. Percentage values are based on the latest available census and reliable estimates. Official censuses were considered in this study to be the most reliable; although official censuses are usually challenged by minorities, whether Muslims or not, claiming that their number is underestimated for various reasons. However, these claims tend to be based on emotions and wishful thinking and not on scientific facts. In addition, residents who are not citizens are not counted in many religious and ethnic censuses. While typically non-citizens do not influence the political life in a country, they do help in establishing and maintaining various religious facilities and activities. Thus, it makes sense to include them in an estimate that inquires about adherents of a certain religion in a country.

However, not all censuses inquire on religious adherence, nor are held regularly. Thus, our second source of estimates is Demographic and Health Surveys (DHS) that include data on religion. When no census or Survey is available, we resort to other estimates from reliable sources.

The total population estimate for each country and the corresponding annual population growth rate (APGR) since 1950 are based on [UNP]. An estimate for the Muslims demographics in the decennial estimates based on these growth rates.

We divided Asia into eight regions; the data for each is included in a separate section, and are sorted in terms of the percentage of Muslims in descending order. These regions are the Arabian Peninsula (Section 2), East Near East (Section 3), West Near East (Section 4), Central Asia (Section 5), the Malay Archipelago (Section 6), the Indian Subcontinent (Section 7), the Far East (Section 8) and Indochina (Section 9). The country of Russia was not included in Asia as most of its population lives in the European side of the country, although most of its territory is in Asia. Section 10 presents a summary of the data for the whole continent.

II. MUSLIMS IN THE ARABIAN PENINSULA

Islam has started in this region, so it comes as no surprise that this region has the highest concentration of Muslims. This region consists of seven countries: Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates, and Yemen. The total population of this region increased from 3 million in 1870, to 8 million in 1950, to 85 million by 2020. The related percentage of Muslims in this region decreased from 99% in 1870 to 98% in 1950 to 94% by 2020. The corresponding individual data for each country in this region is discussed below and summarized in Table 2.

2.1. Bahrain: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 105,401 or 96.12% in 1950, to 135,720 or 94.82% in 1959, to 173,594 or 95.28% in 1965, to 206,708 or 95.66% in 1971, to 298,140 or 84.99% in 1981, to 415,427 or 81.77 in 1991, to 528,393 or 81.22% in 2001.

2.2. Kuwait: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 194,894 or 94.39% in 1957, to 439,687 or 94.08% in 1965, to 944,781 or 94.97% in 1975, to 1,242,708 or 91.51% in 1980.

2.3. Oman: According to the 1993 census, Muslims make up 87.7% of the total population.

2.4. Qatar: According to the 2004 census, the total population was 744,029, out of which 576,931 or 77.54% were Muslims.

2.5. Saudi Arabia: By 2009, Muslims made up more than 95% of the total population.

2.6. United Arab Emirates: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased in number but decreased in percentage from 172,052 or 96.05% in 1968, to 494,325 or 88.61% in 1975, then to 76% in 2005.

2.7. Yemen: By 2009, Muslims made up more than 99.98%

of the total population.

III. MUSLIMS IN THE EAST NEAR EAST

This region consists of six countries: Abkhazia, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, Iran, and South Ossetia. The total population of this region increased from 7 million in 1870, to 25 million in 1950, to 101 million by 2020. The related percentage of Muslims in this region increased from 73% in 1870, to 76% in 1950, to 93% by 2020. The corresponding individual data for each country in this region is discussed below and summarized in Table 3.

3.1. Abkhazia: Based on the 1926 census data, the Muslim population was 20,374 or 10.14% of the total population. According to surveys held in 1997 and 2003, Muslims' percentage with respect to the total population decreased from 17% to 16%, respectively.

3.2. Armenia: According to census data, the Muslim population changed from 92,856 or 10.55% in 1926, to 152,408 or 11.89% in 1939, to 135,303 or 7.67% in 1959, to 189,676 or 7.61% in 1970, to 214,644 or 7.07% in 1979, to 144,523 or 4.37% in 1989 to 6,159 or 0.19% in 2001.

3.3. Azerbaijan: According to census data, the Muslim population increased from 1,677,440 or 72.47% in 1926, to 2,134,591 or 66.60% in 1939, to 2,659,021 or 71.91% in 1959, to 4,015,406 or 78.47% in 1970, to 4,976,784 or 82.58% in 1979, to 6,137,664 or 87.42% in 1989, to 7,629,300 or 95.93% in 1999. In addition, an official DHS was conducted in 2006. It covered the population aged 15 to 49. The participants were 8,444 females out of which 8,379 or 99.23% were Muslim and 2,245 males out of which 2,232 or 99.42% were Muslim. Thus, this survey indicated that 99.33% of the population is Muslim.

3.4. Georgia: According to census data, the Muslim population increased from 199,400 or 8.38% in 1926, to 292,409 or 8.26% in 1939, to 253,422 or 6.27% in 1959, to 331,856 or 7.08% in 1970, to 379,225 or 7.60% in 1979, to 449,921 or 8.33 in 1989 to 433,784 or 9.92% in 2002. The latest census, however, did not include the population of Abkhazia and South Ossetia.

3.5. Iran: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 18,654,127 or 98.41% in 1956, to 24,771,922 or 98.76% in 1966, to 33,396,908 or 99.07% in 1976, to 59,788,791 or 99.56% in 1996, to 70,093,956 or 99.43% in 2006.

3.6. South Ossetia: According to the 1926 census, the Muslim population was 20,133 or 23.04% of the total population. By 2008, this percentage increased to 35%.

IV. MUSLIMS IN THE WEST NEAR EAST

This region consists of eight countries: Cyprus, North Cyprus, Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon, Palestine/Israel, Syria, and Turkey. The total population of this region increased from 12 million in 1870, to 35 million in 1950 to 187 million by 2020. The related percentage of Muslims in this region decreased from 94% in 1870 and remained around 91% since 1950. The corresponding individual data for each country in this region is discussed below and summarized in Table 4.

4.1. Cyprus: According to censuses data, the total population increased in Larnaka, Lemassol, Paphos, and half of Nicosia districts from 106,594 in 1881, to 122,012 in 1891, to 136,062 in 1901, to 155,078 in 1911, to 178,463 in 1921, to 198,823 in 1931, to 254,484 in 1946, to 326,170 in 1960, to 358,985 in 1973, to 602,025 in 1992, to 689,565 in 2001. The corresponding Muslim population changed from 27,006 or 25.34% in 1881, to 28,342 or 23.23% in 1891, to 30,281 or 22.26% in 1901, to 32,811 or 21.16% in 1911, to 36,181 or 20.27% in 1921, to 37,948 or 19.09% in 1931, to 46,921 or 18.44% in 1946, to 61,056 or 18.72% in 1960, then decreased to 4,182 or 0.61% in 2001. The decrease is due to the ethnic cleansing against Muslims from 1963 to 1974, which caused the Turkish military intervention in 1974, and the subsequent unilateral declaration of independence of the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus (North Cyprus) in 1983.

4.2. North Cyprus: According to censuses data, the total population increased in Kyrenia, Famagusta, and half of Nicosia districts from 79,579 in 1881, to 87,275 in 1891, to 100,961 in 1901, to 119,031 in 1911, to 132,253 in 1921, to 149,136 in 1931, to 195,631 in 1946, to 247,397 in 1960, to 272,793 in 1973, then decreased to 146,740 in 1978, then increased to 200,587 in 1996, to 265,100 in 2006. The corresponding Muslim population increased from or 18,452 or 23.19% in 1881, to 19,584 or 22.44% in 1891, to 21,028 or 20.83% in 1901, to 23,617 or 19.84% in 1911, to 25,158 or 19.02% in 1921, to 26,291 or 17.63% in 1931, to 33,627 or 17.19% in 1946, to 43,886 or 17.74% in 1960. After independence censuses indicate that more than 99% of the population is Muslim.

4.3. Iraq: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 4,508,779 or 93.62% in 1947, to 6,057,493 or 95.54% in 1957, to 7,711,712 or 95.83% in 1965.

4.4. Jordan: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 1,596,745 or 93.58% in 1961, to 2,036,407 or 95.47% in 1979. Based on DHS, this percentage increased to 96.99% in 1997, then to 98.43% in 2002.

4.5. Lebanon: By 2007, Muslims made up 56% of the 4.6. Palestine/Israel: The representation of Muslims decreased from 85% or 300,000 in 1850, to 82.43% or 657,000 by 1914, to 73.34% or 759,712 by 1931, to 63.18% or 875,000 by 1937, to 59.87% or 1,122,000 by 1947. After the state of Israel was declared, the statistics for Israel included those living in 1948 occupied lands and Israeli citizens who live in colonies in the West Bank and Gaza Strip. The Palestinian statistics on the other hand, covers Palestinians who live in Gaza Strip and the West Bank and excludes those who live in Jerusalem. The statistics also exclude Israeli citizens who live in this region as they are covered under Israel.

Based on official statistics data, the total Israeli population increased from 1,370,100 in 1950, to 2,150,400 in 1960, to 3,022,100 in 1970, to 3,321,700 in 1980, 4,821,700 in 1990, to 6,363,300 in 2000, to 7,374,000 in 2008. The corresponding Muslim population increased from 116,100 or 8.47% in 1950, to 166,300 or 7.73% in 1960, to 328,600 or 10.87% in 1970, to 438,300 or 12.71% in 1980, to 677,700 or 14.06% in 1990, to 970,000 or 15.23% in 2000, to 1,240,000 or 16.82% in 2008.

Regarding Palestinians, the 1967 census indicated that the Strip had a total population of 356,269 out of which 352,532 or 98.95% were Muslims. More recent census data indicate that the total population increased to 1,022,207 in 1997 and 1,416,543 in 2007. The 1997 census indicated that both Gaza Strip and the West Bank had a total population of 2,597,616, out of which 2,556,859 or 98.43% were Muslims. In [UN], it is noted that in the 1997 census, “total population does not include Palestinian population living in those parts of Jerusalem governorate which were annexed by Israel in 1967, amounting to 210,209 persons. Likewise, the results do not include the estimates of not enumerated population based on the findings of the post enumeration study, i.e. 83,805 persons.” The 2007 census indicated that the total population reached 3,761,646; out of which 1,416,543 or 37.66% live in Gaza Strip, while 2,350,583 or 62.49% live in West Bank, including East Jerusalem. For religious affiliation in the West Bank; 2,187,495 or 98.11% of the 2,229,595 who stated their religion were Muslim. According to [DOS], there are 1,500 to 2,500 Christians living in the Strip. Thus, Muslims make up at least 99.82% of the total population of the Strip recorded in the 2007 census. All in all, according to the 2007 census results, Muslims make up 98.75% of the total population.

All in all, the percentage of Muslims in Historical Palestine continued to decrease to 48.65% or 1,100,800 in 1950, to 38.97% or 1,252,759 in 1960, to 35.04% or 1,399,127 in 1970. However, Muslim percentage started increase constantly since the Israeli occupation of the rest of Palestine. Accordingly, the percentage of Muslims increased to 37% or 1,939,069 in 1980, to 41.32% or 2,755,269 in 1990, to 43.61% or 4,026,622 in 2000, to 47.71% or 5,579,617 in 2010, and Muslims are expected to be more than the half of the population by 2020.

4.7. Syria: Estimate for the Muslim population decreased from 90% in 2001, to 87% in 2009.

4.8. Turkey: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 18,497,801 or 98.44% in 1945, to 23,804,048 or 98.92% in 1955, to 31,129,973 or 99.17% in 1965.

V. MUSLIMS IN CENTRAL ASIA

This region consists of seven countries: Afghanistan, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Mongolia, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, and Uzbekistan. The total population of this region increased from 12 million in 1870, to 26 million in 1950 to 112 million by 2020. The related percentage of Muslims in this region increased from 89% in 1870, to 75% in 1950 to 91% by 2020. The corresponding individual data for each country in this region is discussed below and summarized in Table 5.

5.1. Afghanistan: According to the 1979 census, the Muslim population was 13,020,810 or 99.77% of the total population increased from 27,266 or 67.06% in 1947, to 50,516 or 60.23% in 1960, to 84,700 or 62.16 in 1971, to 122,269 or 63.41% in 1981, to 174,977 or 67.17% in 1991.

6.2. Indonesia: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 103,579,496 or 87.51% in 1971 to 177,528,772 or 88.22% in 2000.

6.3. Malaysia: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 5,164,205 or 50.04% in 1970, to 6,918,307 or 52.93% in 1980, to 10,257,341 or 58.62% in 1991, to 14,049,379 or 60.36% in 2000.

6.4. Papua New Guinea: Estimate for the Muslim population increased from few hundred or 0.02% in 1981, to 2,000 or 0.03% in 2009.

6.5. Philippines: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 277,547 or 3.64% in 1903, to 443,037 or 4.24% in 1918, to 676,813 or 4.23% in 1939, to 791,817 or 4.12% in 1948, to 1,317,475 or 4.86% in 1960, to 1,584,963 or 4.32% in 1970, to 2,769,643 or 4.57% in 1990, to 3,862,409 or 5.06% in 2000.

6.6. Singapore: Based on census data, the total population 15 years and over increased from 1,981,962 in 1980, to 2,253,900 in 1990, to 2,494,630 in 2000. The corresponding Muslim population increased in number but decreased in percentage with respect to the total population from 323,867 or 16.34% in 1980, to 346,200 or 15.36% in 1990, to 371,660 or 14.90% in 2000. Previous censuses included ethnical information from which we can deduce religion, with the assumption that all Malays and 22% of the Indians are Muslim, which is confirmed by recent censuses.

Accordingly, the Muslim population changed from 6,599 out of 10,683 (61.77%) in 1824, to 8,065 out of 16,634 (48.49%) in 1830, to 13,190 out of 29,984 (43.99%) in 1936, to 18435 out of 52891 (34.86%) in 1849, to 28,433 out of 94,816 (29.99%) in 1871, to 35,698 out of 137,722 (25.92%) in 1881, to 39,516 out of 181,602 (21.76%) in 1891, to 39,776 out of 226,842 (17.53%) in 1901, to 47,974 out of 303,321 (15.82%) in 1911, to 60,776 out of 418,358 (14.53%) in 1921, to 76,305 out of 557,745 (13.68%) in 1931, to 55,611 out of 490,155 (11.35%) in 1936, to 129,787 out of 938,144 (13.83%) in 1947, to 225,839 out of 1,445,929 (15.62%) in 1957, to 343,639 out of 2,074,507 (16.56%) in 1970.

6.7. Timor-Leste (East Timor): According to the 2004 census, the total population was 924,642 out of which 2,970 or 0.32% were Muslims.

VII. MUSLIMS IN THE INDIAN SUBCONTINENT

This region consists of seven countries: Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Maldives, Nepal, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka. The total population of this region increased from 240 million in 1870, to 473 million in 1950 to 1,897 million by 2020. The related percentage of Muslims in this region decreased from 17% in 1870, to 23% in 1950 to 31% by 2020. The corresponding individual data for each country in this region is discussed below and summarized in Table 2.6.

7.5. Nepal: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 351,186 or 3.04% in 1971, to 399,197 or 2.66% in 1981, to 653,218 or 3.53% in 1991, to 954,023 or 4.20% in 2001.

7.6. Pakistan: Based on census data, the Muslim population in the Punjab province, which was divided after independence between Pakistan and India, increased from 9,837,685 (42.94%) in 1871, to 11,662,434 (51.35%) in 1881. Muslims in the Punjab and Sindh provinces were 15,130,096 (54.03%) in 1891. Muslims in most of current Pakistan and the Punjab province increased from 17,352,979 (56.15%) in 1901, to 17,747,540 (58.52%) in 1911, to 18,037,006 in 1921. After independence censuses show that the Muslim population increased from 64,958,221 or 85.88% in 1951, to 82,556,634 or 88.09% in 1961, to 81,450,057 or 96.67% in 1981, to 126,009,286 or 96.50% in 1998.

7.7. Sri Lanka: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 248,065 or 6.94% in 1901, to 436,556 or 6.56% in 1946, to 724,043 or 6.84% in 1963, to 901,785 or 7.11% in 1971, to 1,121,717 or 7.56% in 1981, to 1,425,698 or 8.45% in 2001.

VIII. MUSLIMS IN THE FAR EAST

This region consists of five countries: China, Japan, North and South Korea, and Taiwan. The total population of this region increased from 409 million in 1870, to 666 million in 1950 to 1,682 million by 2020. The related percentage of Muslims in this region has remained around 9% since 1870. The corresponding individual data for each country in this region is discussed below and summarized in Table 8.

8.1. China: The 1936 census indicated a total population of 452,460,000; out of which 47,437,000 or 10.48% were Muslim. Later censuses under the communist regime which took over in 1948, presented a much less count of Muslims. Accordingly, official estimate was less than ten million or 1.74% in the 1953 census, and about twenty million or 1.61% in the 2000 census. The reason for this underestimate is due to the fact that only ethnicities with majority Muslims were considered Muslim, while most Chinese Muslims are from ethnicities the majority of which are not Muslim. Thus, using ethnic census data alone severely underestimates the number of Muslims in China.

8.2. Japan: Estimates for the Muslim population increased from 25,000 or 0.02% in 1981, to 100,000 or 0.08% in 2009.

8.3. North Korea: The Muslim population increased from none in 1971 and before, to 2,000 or 0.01% by 2005.

8.4. South Korea: Estimates for the Muslim population increased from few hundred or less than 0.01% in 1950, to few thousands or around 0.02% in 1971, to 235,000 or 0.50% in 2009.

8.5. Taiwan: Estimates for the Muslim population increased from almost none before 1949, to 20,000 or 0.27% in 1949, to 40,000 or 0.27% in 1971, to 105,000 or 0.47% in 2000, to 210,000 or 0.91% in 2009.

to 71 million in 1950 to 255 million by 2020. The related percentage of Muslims in this region increased from 2% in 1870, to 4% in 1950, then decreased to 3% since 1980. The corresponding individual data for each country in this region is discussed below and summarized in Table 2.8.

9.1. Cambodia: The massacres of the Khmer Rouge regime (1975-1979) decreased the Muslim population from over one million or 15% of the total population to a one third of that. Recent census data indicate that the Muslim population increased in number but decreased in percentage from 245,398 or 2.15% in 1998, to 257,197 or 1.92% in 2008.

9.2. Laos: Based on census data, the Muslim population decreased from 1,133 or 0.02% in 1995, to 1,006 or 0.02% in 2005.

9.3. Myanmar (Burma): Based on census data, the Muslim population changed from 99,846 or 3.63% in 1871, to 168,881 or 4.52% in 1881, to 253,031 or 3.08% in 1891, to 339,446 or 3.24% in 1901, to 420,777 or 3.47% in 1911, to 500,592 or 3.80% in 1921, to 234,512 or 7.97% in 1953.

9.4. Thailand: Based on census data, the Muslim population increased from 670,404 or 3.84% in 1947, to 1,025,569 or 3.91% in 1960, to 1,325,587 or 3.85% in 1970, to 1,714,689 or 3.83% in 1980, to 2,777,542 or 4.56% in 2000.

9.5. Vietnam: In 1981, the Muslim population was estimated to be 25,000 or 0.05% of the total population. The 1999 census included for the first time a question about religious affiliation, which indicated that the total population was 76,323,173, out of which 63,147 or 0.08% were Muslims.

IX. MUSLIMS IN INDOCHINA

This region consists of five countries: Cambodia, Laos, Myanmar (Burma), Thailand, and Vietnam. The total population of this region increased from 22 million in 1870,

X. SUMMARY

A summary of the Muslim population change in Asia from 1950 to 2020 is presented in Table 10. Accordingly, while the total Asian population increased from 744 million in 1870, to 1.4 billion in 1950 to 4.7 billion by 2020, the percentage of Muslims in Asia increased from 18% in 1870, to 23% in 1950, to 31% by 2020, which amounts to more than one percentage point per decade. In addition, most Muslims live in Asia, but this fraction of Muslims decreased from 74% in 1950 to 71% by 2020. A color coded map of Asia illustrating the presence of Muslims in each country is presented in Figure 10. The value of pure white color is 255, while pure black is 0. Given a percentage of Muslims p, the color was chosen as $255 - 2.55p$. Thus, the darker the region is, the higher the percentage of Muslims in the corresponding country.

Since the 1960s, the continent annual population growth (APGR) has been decreasing constantly, from 2.3% to 1.2% in the 2010s. The corresponding APGR for the Muslim population in this continent also has been decreasing since the 1960s, from 2.7% to 1.6% in the 2010s. However, since the 1970s, the Muslim's growth is about 15% to 30% higher than the continent's growth. This explains why the representation of Muslims with respect to the total population is increasing at over one percentage point each decade.
